New Board Members Bring Experience, Fresh Ideas

Baltimore, Md. - Suited to Succeed has expanded their Board of Directors to include four new members with very diverse professional backgrounds. New members include Meryl D. Burgin, Assistant General Counsel for CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield; Robin Ennis, a project manager for the Northeast Maryland Waste Disposal Authority; David M. Hill, the principal with CycleLogic Environmental Marketing and Consultation, and a long-time Suited to Succeed volunteer; Cindy Truitt, Chief Development Officer with local human services non-profit Humanim, and Ellen L. Kobler, Deputy Communications Director for Baltimore County Executive Jim Smith.

“This is a very exciting time for Suited to Succeed, and we are delighted that these seasoned professionals will be helping us expand our ability to serve as an important resource for women striving to make positive changes for themselves and their families,” said Karen Taylor, Suited to Succeed Chairperson.

Suited to Succeed is a 501(c) 3 non-profit organization that provides job-appropriate clothing for women making the transition from welfare and job training to employment. Since its inception, Suited to Succeed has assisted more than 4,000 women in the Baltimore Metropolitan region, and
